

One thing I love about Leicester...

...is the opportunity to make a difference in people's lives. The diversity of the city means that I can interact with so many youth cultures and learn so many things. I am passionate about Leicester and the work I do. I moved from Gambia to study youth and community development and now I teach it, I feel I'm making a real difference to our community.

M Sallah

Momodou Sallah
Senior Lecturer
Youth and Community Division